2 WHAT ARE COOKIES

Cookies are small files that can be used to improve your user experience on our website. The cookies are stored on your computer or mobile device when you visit our site.

There are two main types of cookies, session cookies and permanent cookies. Session cookies are temporary cookies and are deleted after your visit to our website when you close the browser. Permanent cookies are stored for a longer time depending on their purpose, typically for two (2) years.

3 WHAT KIND OF COOKIES DO WE USE

Necessary cookies

Necessary cookies implement functions that are necessary for the functioning and proper use of the website. For example, these cookies enable the proper navigation on the website by saving your login information while you browse from one page to another on our website. These cookies cannot be turned off.

Statistics cookies

Statistics cookies help us to understand how visitors use the website. These cookies help us compile statistics on how visitors move around the website and which pages on our website are popular. We use this information to improve our website.

We use among others Snoobi Analytics and Google Analytics. You can learn more about Snoobi's privacy practices here: https://www.snoobi.com/media/n0jncuuk/privacy_policy_snoobi.pdf

Marketing cookies

Marketing cookies make it possible to display relevant ads on a website. These marketing cookies are used and put on our website by third parties, Google and YouTube. You can learn more about Google's privacy practices here: <https://policies.google.com/technologies/cookies#types-of-cookies>

4 WHEN DO WE USE COOKIES

Necessary cookies are required for the proper functioning of the website. These are mandatory and cannot be turned off. All other cookies are used only based on your consent. You can accept the use of all cookies or only specific categories of cookies in the cookie settings banner at the top of the page. You can also withdraw your consent for the use of the cookies at any time using the same.

5 RIGHTS OF THE DATA SUBJECT

As a data subject, you have certain rights under the General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679 (GDPR). Below are short descriptions of these rights. In all matters relating to the processing of personal data and in situations involving the exercise of rights, the data subject should contact the controller's representative.

Right to access: Data subjects have the right to receive confirmation from the controller on whether the controller is processing personal data that concerns them.

Right to rectification: Data subjects have the right to demand the rectification of inaccurate personal data concerning them and to have incomplete personal data completed.

Right to erasure: In certain cases, specified in Article 17 of the GDPR, the data subject has the right to have the controller erase data concerning them.

Right to restriction of processing: In certain cases, specified in Article 18 of the GDPR, the data subject can request the controller to restrict the processing of personal data concerning them.

Right to object: In certain situations, the data subject has the right to object to the processing of their personal data, that is, request the controller not to process it.

Right to data portability: The data subject has the right to receive the personal data that they have provided to a controller in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format and, if desired, transmit that data to another controller.

Right to withdraw consent: If personal data is processed based on consent, the data subject has the right to withdraw consent by informing the controller. Withdrawal of consent does not affect the lawfulness of the processing carried out prior to the withdrawal of consent.

Right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority: The data subject has the right to lodge a complaint with the competent supervisory authority if the data subject considers that the controller has not complied with the applicable data protection regulation.
